

“The Perils of Mankind”

by Mark Slade, copyright 2017

Opening narration:

Here are a man and a woman witnessing the end of Earth as we know it. And here is the machine that has caused the cataclysmic events that have led us to this point in the history of mankind. And here are the two opposing groups who want to control the machine and the future of mankind.

Closing narration:

Now we see the shadows disappear. We see the darkness turn to light. Destruction ends and creation begins a new era of mankind. And maybe lessons are learned...in the Twilight Zone.