

“The Pit”

by Dale Elster, copyright 2017

Opening Narration:

Picture a young man waking in a nightmare, terrified and alone.

Until this moment, Jake Kemp ruled his world with his fists and the fear they created, but he’s about to discover he’s no longer the toughest kid in Rock Creek High. His opponent has entered the arena and is about to step into the ring, emerging from the darkest shadows of... The Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration:

Jake Kemp looked his opponent in the eye and found he was looking in a kind of mirror instead. And he learned that tyranny ends not in an arena, but in a pit – a dark hole where no redemption can be won, and no fair fights expected.

Tonight’s fight card has been written in red, and scored by the most bruising of judges found only in... The Twilight Zone.
