Opening narration:

You are watching the rather loud hustle and bustle of preparing for a fund raiser. But as we watch a small rock fall through the sky ending its journey in the parking lot we meet Charlie. She's an unexpected guest looking for a new home of sorts, a warm place to snuggle into so she can incubate a while longer. Soon this black tie event will help thousands of voiceless find a home in the shelter ...of the Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

The end of a ride and the beginning of a story of new unlicensed tiny creatures getting settled into their new homes. It's not always an act of compassion for a family home to open up to a stranger. Sometimes it is just a matter of crossing paths between the needy & needed at an intersection leading to a forever home filled with mews and cries ...in the Twilight Zone.
