by Bill DeVoe, copyright 2017

Opening narration:

A brief if somewhat tragic introduction to Mister William Fortner Edwards. As you've already ascertained, his normal routine has been shattered by an unforeseen and most unfortunate accident. In a moment we'll see how he reacts, and ultimately how he pleads his case on what turns out to be that most important of days that we all must face... in the Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

No comment here, save this: The ties that bind can last decades and a measure of love can reach all the way from Heaven to Earth... and back again. This has been the Twilight Zone.
