

“Board Games”

copyright 2018 by James Meilleur

Opening narration:

Mr. Barnaby Sykes, age 66. A recently retired high school teacher whose pastime is now devoted solely to that of collecting and playing of board games. New games that are added to Mr. Sykes' collection is often an excuse to invite anyone who are willing to try it out by playing the game along with him. Because Mr. Sykes is desperately trying to escape the reality of his increasingly mundane existence. But what he is about to discover is a board game that wont let him pass go - or collect two-hundred dollars. Instead, Mr. Sykes will have to go directly to... the Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

Mr. Barnaby Sykes, who found out that with one simple roll of the dice - a life can be changed forever. A board game that comes with a whole new set of rules, because this game can now be played out even in... the Twilight Zone.