

“Chapter 4 is Next”

by David Fleming, copyright 2017

Opening narration:

It is said that out of the pen of an author lies greatness waiting to be born. Witness if you will, David Ray, a fictional writer and author who specializes in dreaming up penny characters to be filled with the kind of substance found at any hobo convention, but in just a few moments an unusual stroke of the pen will launch David Ray’s imagination further than any of his dusty and dry novels, because the next character is only found on the pages in the Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

A famous writer once said... “Not that the story needs to be long, but it will take a long while to make it short.” Point in case with David Ray, perhaps he’ll too play out his characters in a short time in the Twilight Zone.