

“Fire and Inner Peace”

by Reuben Nelson, copyright 2017

Opening Narration:

Camping; a family summer tradition, involving swimming by the lake or pool. Sun bathing on a sandy beach. Sports activities to occupy the time with. Camping is also a time for solitude, soul searching and reacquaint with nature. But there is one popular camping ritual during the evening when the sun starts and finishes setting: roasting marshmallows around the campfire. What Robert Wyle doesn't know yet, his family camping trip will not just take him to his favorite campground, it will take him to the heart of the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration:

A Chinese Proverb says: “The fire you kindle for your enemy often burns yourself more than them”. Just as a fire can consume and leave nothing but ashes, Robert Wyle learned in time, anger can emotionally consume a person and overtake happiness. A lesson to be learned both in and out of the Twilight Zone.
