

“The Market Is Under New Ownership”

by Laurie Kelley, copyright 2017

Opening narration:

Meet Rachael Kaufmann. Her day started out like any other market day. Coffee. Usher the kids off to school. Then on to the grocery store. Only today Rachael found bargains she never would have dreamed of finding. Or did they find her? Unbeknownst to Rachael, the staples she buys for her pantry shelves are puzzle pieces that will lead her to a place seldom frequented by those among the living, or the dead. A dark, corner of a deserted dimension. A place that robs you of your senses and paralyses the soul. When Rachael reaches the check – out stand, she will be checking into..... The Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

So, the next time you go shopping, be careful what you buy, and be sure to read the labels. That seemingly unimportant fine print just may send you on an unexpected journey down a one way path, leading directly to..... The Twilight Zone.