

“Law and Order”

© 2020 by Kyle Lemmon

Opening Narration:

Submitted for your approval, a man fractured by family. He sits in a walled house that resembles a pearl, but slings dirt at those he hates. A man whose trade is fear, paranoia, and whose fee is blind obedience. In just a moment, this unnamed man will receive a name he may not want in the name of law and order. His next appointment on his agenda is a classified meeting in The Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

You won't find his name recorded in the history books. No monument to commemorate this sad man. You'll only find thousands of scribbles of "LAW AND ORDER" on the walls, floors, and furniture. The paint outside is a dull gray and the lights are off. Listen carefully and you'll hear three words coming from the bunker somewhere in The Twilight Zone.