

“The Body Collector”

© 2020 by Ryan Splan

Opening Narration:

Portrait of a body collector named Rory Tall. Age: 50-something. This is a man who collects dead bodies in an opioid addicted town. Rory Tall, a man drowning in death. But Mr. Tall is about to be thrown an extra-terrestrial life preserver where tentacles can collect the bodies. You're in the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration:

Mr. Rory Tall, tasked with collecting and transporting countless victims of the opioid epidemic to their final resting place. Those with two hands and two legs need not apply. An infinite number tentacles are required. A grim truth about opioid addiction in the Twilight Zone.