

“Bits of It”

© 2021 by Melanie Mitchell

Opening Narration

This is The Damin Manjit Show, backstage. Center frame sits an ecstatic Contestant, who after numerous applications has finally been selected. But as they prepare to compete for the prize, they're also preparing for something else—an unforeseen voyage into...The Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

An endless game show located within the mind of man. One where its contestants are not people, but merely ideas. Nameless concepts competing for the ultimate prize of being brought into the world. And as the stars of their show, we give them hope through our action and attention. So whenever echoes of an idea strike, don't abandon it. Devote time to realize it to your fullest ability. Because though they may only come to you in bits of it, perhaps ideas aren't any less real than you and me. A lesson for humans or ideas alike in...The Twilight Zone.