

“Cyndi's Angel”

© 2021 by Ronald Adams

Opening Narration

What you've just witnessed, but not experienced, is man's terror, vastly understated as war. Like meat from the butcher, raw, but bereft of bloodshed.

What follows is obvious: a flag draped casket flown home, family shredded by the shrapnel of grief, flowers, and a stone marking the sacrificial untimely death of Private Benjamin Murphy.

Our hope lies in what's beyond our periphery. As Private Murphy reenters Boot Camp as a New Recruit in ... the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Cyndi has achieved the Wisdom of Solomon; she's no longer infuriated from mishaps, delays, or Murphy's Law.

Cyndi now recognizes near misses as deliverance from a celestial helpmate and wonders: who saved me this time?

As she praises all the angels of every color, language, gender and affiliation who act on her behalf.

Tonight's tale of temper and tenderness, in honor of all the Brave Hearts, posthumously awarded in ... the Twilight Zone.