Opening Narration

Introducing Liam Evans, an annoying nosey and intrusive man who spends the majority of his days recording other people’s business, car accidents, domestic disputes, people in distress, all while doing very little to help in those situations, his only motivation is to capture a viral video that gains multi million views. In a moment Mr Evans will reluctantly transition from the filmer to the captured, where he will discover what its like to be on the other side of the camera the side that will take him straight through the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Mr Liam Evans, who upon his sudden death has become the main subject of a video meme that has now attained more that 100 million views and counting. Sometimes you get exactly what you wish for, but not entirly how you wished to get it; a Viral lesson to be learned, in the Twilight Zone.
