

“TV Game Show”

© 2021 by David Fleming

Opening Narration

It is said that what shapes our reality is based on what we see and hear. Lou Cuthbertson, a 62 yr. old retiree, who aside from breathing, spends all of her time, morning, noon, and nights watching TV game shows. Stick with us, because on this particular day, Lou is about to receive an invitation in the mail along with a one-way ticket to a most unusual game show.

Closing Narration

Lou Cuthbertson, a permanent fixture of a breed of people who are boob-tube watchers, has chosen what was behind door number two, which turned out to be a lifetime of repeat game shows, in which she is the only contestant, played on the TV in the Twilight Zone.