Opening Narration

A passing glance at Meredith Lane reveals a pleasant, attractive woman, reluctantly approaching middle age. However, there are times when it is prudent to take a closer look. For buried beneath that friendly facade lurks an insecure, yet entitled being who fancies herself brighter and far more deserving than others.

This may explain why when a powerful, charismatic man offers Meredith Utopia in exchange for her unwavering loyalty she readily accepts, unaware she has joined a collective of targets about to be indoctrinated into...the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

The misguided who wander the dark paths of collusion and complicity are not always robbed of their souls. Those like Meredith Lane and her ilk willingly relinquish them on polished silver platters both in life and in...The Twilight Zone.
