Opening Narration

A part time podcaster with a small but dedicated fan base wishes his side job was really his nine to five. But his desires will put wisdom and want to the test when his fans' messages begin showing up weeks ahead of time. What will happen if Mr Thompson uses his suspiciously procured information to make his dreams come true, and unknowingly shapes a new reality...in the Twilight Zone?

Closing Narration

All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put the future, or Elliot Thompson, together again. The laws of time and space have little wiggle room for those who attempt to circumvent the long process of a hard day's work. Fallen from his wall, he must live with the consequences of trying to play the short game...in the Twilight Zone.
