Opening Narration

Let's feast eyes on Muro Major, a man with the mind of a wizard. Sitting upon the exam hot seat, he is now being tested in the acquired respect of a loved one. With despair, he knows that love can be heartbreaking. For love endures life's many triumphs and disasters causing one to wander away from sanity.

He travels to a mental point where two roads diverge into mistaken and mistaken endless paths. The lesser of two evils being the master of his own fate into course of action or shall I say coarse of action in the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Discovering knowledge is great until evil discovers that same knowledge. This is what we have as enlightenment takes a course into mental failure. So, tonight, Muro finds out that both roads cease with the destiny too late to revolve on these dense and pitch black nights in the Twilight Zone.
