Opening Narration

Thirty-eight years prior to the year 2018, Ronald’s grandmother never saw the completed home his parents bought as the result of being killed by a motor vehicle. In 2018, now an adult with family and with help from his mother-in-law, Ronald and his wife bought a new home waiting to be built.

Eager to share the news with his own mother, Ronald was asked to wait patiently until the appropriate time. In time, he learned present day events have similarities of the past: in 2021 it was Ronald’s mother-in-law who died from Covid and never lived to see the house she helped purchase.

Closing Narration

The legacy left behind in the form of bricks and mortar with parental help, changed Ronald and his family for the better. A gift cemented by love both in and out of, the Twilight Zone.
