Opening Narration

You are on the precipice of a nightmare. A dark force has invaded the earth in the form of a relentless virus. This virus does not discriminate. It threatens to slowly and steadily consume every being on this earth.

Enter Dr. Issac Hale. Dr. Hale has achieved the impossible—he has just developed the antidote to stop this disease. However, instead of giving it to everyone in need, he is reserving it for these select few.

The catch? They must submit to Dr. Hale’s rather interesting quiz. The time, sometime not too far in the future. The place, someplace closer than you’d like to believe...teetering on the edge...of the Twilight Zone!

Closing Narration

Dr. Issac Hale, a man who, in trying to save humanity, lost all of his own. A gentle reminder that the road paved with good intentions sometimes leads straight into...the Twilight Zone.
