Opening Narration

Meet Robert Abignalie. He is just your average middle-class working man who lives alone in an empty apartment. Since he was a little boy, loneliness was his specialty. He never had a sibling, girlfriend, wife, or kids, but today was different from the others. Today he won't be alone in his home. Today he will be accompanied by a special visitor from the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Loneliness will never be the same for Robert Abignalie. The feeling of being watched and hunted will haunt him for the rest of his life, wherever he roams. He can't get away from it, so he will just keep walking. Next time you are alone in a room, tossing and turning on a sleepless night, or walking on a desolate road, you might catch a glimpse of Robert passing by in the Twilight Zone.
