

“The Man Who Chased Rainbows”

© 2023 by Darren Winterford

Opening Narration

This is Mr. Andrew Colby. A tired, disappointed man, who has spent the last 20 years chasing numerous rainbows, in an increasingly desperate attempt to claim that elusive pot of gold.

Mr. Colby has sacrificed the finer aspects of his humanity. He has no time for friendship, has lost the ability to be kind, forgotten how to show compassion. He sees his fellow human beings as little more than obstacles to be elbowed aside and trodden underfoot. Mr. Colby will soon have one final chance to change his philosophy, as he chases his latest rainbow straight into the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

This is Mr. Andrew Colby, who has found neither coin nor golden trinkets. Instead, he has rediscovered his humanity and the values of kindness, love, compassion and friendship. All things to be treasured, both here and in the Twilight Zone.
