Opening Narration

Meet the good-hearted, kind, war weary widow, Leah. Today hearing the shrieking siren, Leah, again scrambles into the bomb shelter, home of fear, ghosts of past occupants, terrible deeds, and unthinkable behavior. As Leah huddles once again inside the bomb shelter, unknown to her, she is about to cross the boundaries of this war-torn world, into...the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

And so, Ladies and gentlemen, today Leah has left her battered, tortured body in the bomb shelter. She emerges in her wedding dress, into the arms of her husband, still in his soldier's dress uniform. The hideous shelter has collapsed behind them, and unencumbered, they walk in peace into the Twilight Zone.
