

“Tick-Tock”

© 2023 by Patrick Byrne

Opening Narration

“No time like the present,” as the saying goes. Usually, an inspirational thought, but tonight—it’s a terrible reality for Jackie Kim.

Jackie, in her obsessive desire to reclaim lost moments and missed opportunities, struck a desperate deal with the Devil himself for a fresh start. However, Jackie was unaware that the terms of her pact also altered the very fabric of time. Now as Jackie looks to undo the damage, she finds herself with one last window of opportunity in...the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Jackie Kim only wanted a chance to rewrite her story, to begin again. The bargain promised change, but in a twisted way she never imagined. The lesson—learned too late for Jackie, is there’s no present like the time—when you’re racing against the clock in... the Twilight Zone.