Opening Narration

View if you will, Professor Hawthorn along with his 30 years of Eluded Discovery aimlessly trudging towards a brilliant collision with the renowned research scientist Miss Carrie, forging a union directly prescribed and dispatched straight out of the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

We have all learned that there are three states of matter and those lonely particles that turn into waves at detection, but for now at the cornerstone of discovery, two people share a ringside seat of the splash between the particle and the wave called “love” only known to a few and found at times traversing at the mercy of the Twilight Zone.
