

“Hooves on the Roof”
copyright © 2024 by Kent Theaker

Opening Narration

Mr. Terrence Byrne, aged 43, is a man with a problem. One night he looks up from the misty road in his sleeping Connecticut neighborhood and sees the Unbelievable. Is it a burglar? An animal? An otherworldly messenger from an abyss? Can he believe his eyes?

In a short time, Mr. Byrne will know who or what he has seen...and this knowledge will provide a sure, inexorable—and terrifying—pathway into the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Terrence Byrne: too attentive—far too curious—for his own good. He meant well, but instead stopped to chat with someone best not conversed with, whether human or inhuman...and the cost was his very soul.

Lesson learned for potential busybodies out there, in their own sleepy towns: leave the Devil to do his work, and keep to the lighted roads...far below the misty turrets of the Twilight Zone.