

“Jeffty is Five”

copyright © 2024 by Carol Hardesty

Opening Narration

Jeffty Kinzer is five. That may not seem like much. Except Jeffty is ALWAYS five. He's been stuck at this age for twenty years. A real-life Peter Pan. Call it fate, magic, whatever. His best friend Donny—age twenty-five—is about to see just how far this magic reaches. As little Jeffty guides him into the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

For a while, Donny Horton had the best of both worlds. He had the thrills and freedom of young adulthood. And thanks to the eternally youthful Jeffty, he could relive the wonder and innocence of childhood. But when he tried to bring his two worlds together, they collided.

Because of his mistake, Donny lost both Jeffty and his last connection to a more magical time. To all our viewers out there, may you always remember the child inside. To the young and young-at-heart, good night from the Twilight Zone.