

“Waiting for a Cure”
copyright © 2024 by Curtis Blanton

Opening Narration

Alex Masters, an emaciated ancient suffering from an incurable illness, is facing the end of life’s play. The richest man in the world cannot buy a cure, so he purchases more time. Physicians attend to him as he undergoes cryogenesis, initiating the long dreamless sleep of suspended animation.

A bell tolls in the distance as his metabolism slows. Mr. Masters is waiting for a cure. Pause for an intermission while the script is rewritten in the Twilight Zone.

Closing Narration

Alexander Masters purchased a rewrite of Act III of the script we call Life. He found his cure, but also an unexpected role reversal. The lord is now the servant as a frail-aged Alex Masters toils in a sweatshop factory under the corporate entity known as Alex Masters Enterprises. The curtain is about to fall on Mr. Masters as he performs his final lines in the Twilight Zone.